
What I do, and what it costs

I help small businesses stop doing the same job by hand over and over. One person, not an agency, so you deal with me start to finish.

What it costs

Flat prices, agreed before anything starts. No hourly billing and no surprise line items.

Connecting two tools so you type things once	from $500
Automating one repetitive job: reminders, follow-ups, invoices	from $750
An assistant that answers after hours	from $1,000
Straight answers from your own numbers	from $1,200
A new website built to bring customers in	from $2,000

How it goes

1. A free call. Half an hour. If I cannot help, I say so on the call.
2. A written quote. One page, one flat number, good for 30 days.
3. I build it, with updates as pieces land, and you see it working before the final invoice.

What I will not do

Sell you something you do not need. A job you do twice a year, or one that changes every time, costs more to automate than to keep doing by hand. Nor will I touch the part your customers actually come for.

The free call is the whole first step. Book a time, email, or ring me.
